Driving licence?	Yes
Special considerations	Learning the theory in the College is not enough for me. That is why I have been always looking for some trainee programmes during my Undergraduation period. I understand that having some working experience in the field leads to a guaranteed success in future career and prevents possible frustrations while choosing the professional field. I am sure that this position will really stand to me for future job opportunities within all aspects of Aquaculture Research and maybe make my dreams come true.
